Day 02: Leh : Full day City Tour

Morning breakfast at hotel.

After breakfast, proceed to Shey – it was the ancient capital of Ladakh and even after Singee Namgyal built the more imposing palace at Leh, Thiksey – is one of the largest and most impressive Gompa. There are several temples in this Gompa containing images; it also houses a two - storied statue of Buddha which has the main prayer hall around its shoulder. proceed to Hemis – which is dedicated to Padmasambhava, what a visitor can observe a series of scenes in which the lamas, robed in gowns of rich, brightly coloured brocade and sporting masks sometimes bizarrely hideous, parade in solemn dance and mime around the huge flag pole in the centre of the courtyard to the plaintive melody of the Shawn. The moan of the eleven feet horns, the boom of drums and the clash of Cymbals. Hemis was found in the 1630's by Tsang-ras-pa under the royal patronage of Singe Namgyal, Hemis is the largest and richest of the Ladakh Gompa. It nestles into the mountain side a little way up a glen in the mountains of Zaskar range.

Overnight & dinner at Leh.

Day 03: Leh – Nubra Valley by road (125km / 4-5 hours drive)

Morning breakfast at hotel.

Morning drive by to Nubra Valley via the world-popular Khardungla Pass.

At an altitude of 18360 feet, it is one of the highest motorable passes. As you reach the valley, set your camps at the assigned location. Later on, you visit the silver sand dunes near Hunder village. Hop onto a double humped Camel for a memorable camel safari around the place. The next visit is to the villages of Diskit and Hunder (80 km round trip / 6-7 hours). The road trip in this region is a beautiful one. These places own monasteries and hot springs. Get a sneak-peak into the lifestyle of the locals.
